ABOUT OUR CITY

Cali, is the capital of the Valle del Cauca department, is the main urban and economic centre in southwest Colombia, and has one of the fastest-growing economies in the country. The city was founded on 25 July 1536 by the Spanish conqueror Sebastián de Belalcázar.

Cali's cheerful nature is manifested in salsa, a Caribbean rhythm that is danced here among the sugarcane in its own unique way. In this city, nicknamed "Branch of Heaven," the peaks of Cristo Rey, the hill of the Three Crosses, and the hills of San Antonio jut upwards from the plains that make up most of Valle del Cauca.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

The project "We speak: bilingual children" aims to strengthen a second language in Colombian children and youth from different disadvantaged districts of the city of Cali. The volunteers provided tools and spaces for learning in a creative way through playful skills, where they can interact with them and their own culture.
